City Issues Key Manor Owner ULTIMATUM!!

By Dave Atkins

In the last issue of this paper, I wrote about Key Manor Apartments and the extremely bad conditions under which the residents there are living.

On June 5, the City inspectors and the Fire Department went to Key Manor to investigate the complaints, and, according to Bill Greenslait (Romulus Fire Chief) and Willie Watson (City Inspector), there are enough violations to cause the City to take the landlord to court if the violations are not taken care of immediately.

According to Greenslait, there are broken windows, no fire extinguishers, smoke alarms that need batteries and covers, security doors that need to be repaired or replaced, and other violations. Also, according to Watson, the complex is operating without a permit, and the complex overall is in an extremely run-down condition.

Watson said that the City has issued a letter to Stanley R. Van Reken (owner of Key Manor), stating, in effect, that the building must be brought up to code immediately or the City will take the steps necessary to see that it is brought up to code. (The text of the letter is reprinted verbatim at the end of this article.)

According to my sources, Van Reken has allegedly had similar problems with another city, but that city did not follow through with any affirmative action. The City of Romulus has assured this paper that this particular situation involving Key Manor will be taken care of in one form or another.

If you look around at some of the other complexes in the City, you'll see that they are all maintained very well. Wellesley Townhouses, Morgan Manor, and Oakbrook Apartments are just a few that charge similar rental fees but are in much better condition.

Whether the rental property is an apartment complex or a single dwelling, it makes no sense for the landlord to let conditions deteriorate until they are totally unacceptable for human living.

Agreed, there are some tenants who need to be thrown out on their ears for the destruction they do to the property on which they live. There is no reason for someone to tear up another person's property and get by with it. On the other hand, there is no reason for cities, townships, etc., to allow the presence of negligent landlords who take advantage of residents by letting their properties run down and then, when the tenants complain, threaten them with eviction or worse. In today's society, many living conditions are totally uncalled for and should not be allowed under any circumstances.

"With the investment of a little money and effort, Key Manor could once again be brought up to the high standards it once maintained," said Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally.

I certainly hope that the residents of Key Manor will not be subjected to any further problems that are brought on by the negligence of the landlord. If they are, then the City should take the actions it has been talking about.

The following letter from the City to Stanley Van Reken was dated June 6, 1991.

Dear Mr. Van Reken:

As you were advised in the letter you received dated May 22, 1991, the City of Romulus has received numerous complaints regarding the occupancy conditions of your rental property.

For your information, an on site meeting was held between this office and the Fire Department to review the property. A brief inspection revealed that there are numerous violations, which infers that the health and safety of the residents is at risk.

You have been requested to apply for City Certification Inspections so that a complete inspection can be made. As of this date, you have neither complied or responded. A review of the records of the City Clerk's office does not reflect that you have been issued a business license, which is in violation of local and State Ordinances.

Should you fail to apply for a complete inspection on or before June 11, 1991, the City of Romulus will be forced to take legal action to have the complex closed. Please contact this office at 942-7550.

Sincerely,
Willie B. Watson, Assistant Director,
Department of Building, Safety &
Engineering □

Just recently, the Mayor, Beverly McAnally and Councilman Ellis Pennington filed petitions to run for reelection to their respective offices. It is believed that McAnally will run unopposed, as will, the Treasurer James Napiorkowski and City Clerk, Linda Choate. However, it appears that there will be at least three new people running for City Council seats, including, Mary Ann Banks, who resigned two years ago because she and her husband were going to take some time out for themselves. Unfortunately her husband died a short time later, and now she will be running for Council again. Councilman William Wadsworth also has filed his petitions and is actively campaigning.

New people who will be campaigning for a seat on the City Council will be, Judy Frederick and Doreen Seibert. It is believed this is the first attempt by either of these ladies to obtain a seat on City Council.

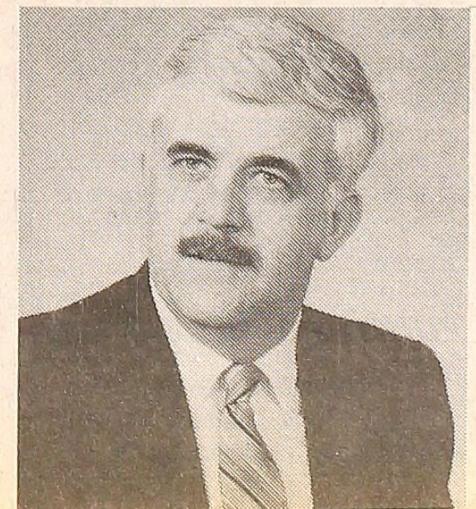

We believe that all present Council members will be trying to get reelected and the list of new candidates may get larger before June 18th which is the cut off date for filing petitions for any elected office in Romulus.

Like I said, it's time to be off and running for political office once again and, once again it seems all too soon.

I am still a firm believer that all offices, Mayor, Clerk, Treasurer and City Council should be four year terms. Two years is just not enough time to get anything done effectively.

Oh well, good luck everyone!

... And the Race Is On!

The Editor's Opinion

Father's Day Is a Bad Time for Me

For seventeen years now, I have gone through the same thing almost nightly. I wake up at 3:30, doze off to sleep again about ten to four and then my eyes fly open again at exactly 4:35.

It doesn't seem to make much difference what time I go to bed, it still happens, just like clock work.

This is the first time that I can remember in seventeen years that Fathers Day has fallen on exactly the same day, June 16th.

On June 16th, 1974 at 4:35 in the morning, my Father died of complications from Cancer.

I had been at the hospital with my Mother all day, along with my brother, and I was so tired I couldn't hardly keep my eyes open. My Dad had gone into what was thought to be a coma earlier in the day on Saturday the 15th.

I really don't remember much that took place that day except I was worried about my Mother. She hadn't had much sleep in several days and it was starting to show on her. I just remember I was really worried about her.

It seemed like every hour that day lasted twelve hours. We all knew he didn't have much time left and the way he was suffering, and had suffered for three months leading up to this time, frankly, we all were praying that God would relieve him of his pain and take him. That may seem kind of hard hearted to those of you who have never gone through a situation like what we were and had been going through.

My Dad had told all of us that he did not want to be placed on life support systems and, we granted him his wish.

All of us had thought just one week earlier that it was very possible that my Dad would get better. He had started showing signs of improvement and the Doctor told us that if he could hang on for just a while longer, a new drug was being released that could possibly give him a few more years.

Sometime around Wednesday, the week of Fathers day, my Dad took a turn for the worse and he was given a blood transfusion. That did not seem to help at all, in fact, he almost immediately appeared to be getting much worse much quicker.

Needless to say, none of us slept much for the next few days and my Mother in particular. I was really getting worried about her.

I had a business to run but, I stayed away from the office to be with my Dad and my family because I knew deep inside of me that it wouldn't be long before something happened.

At about 3:15 in the morning on Fathers day, my Mother looked at me and said, "Why don't you go home and get some rest and come back tomorrow." I argued with her for a while about leaving but, I was so tired I couldn't keep my eyes open.

At that time, I only lived about five minutes from Oakwood Hospital so it didn't take me long to get home. The last thing I remember was looking at the clock beside my bed and it read, 3:35.

The next thing I knew, in fact, it seemed like I hadn't even closed my eyes when the phone rang.

I didn't want to answer it because I had a feeling what it was going to be. I looked at the clock and it was exactly 4:35.

I picked up the phone and heard what I had expected but dreaded for a long time.

It was my Mother. She was very calm when she said, "Dave, I think you had better come back to the hospital, your Dad just died."

Since that night, seventeen years ago, every night is almost the same.

I miss my Dad, I miss him very much and there are times I would give just about anything in the world if I could talk to him. Tonight, as I write this story, I wish I could talk to him. It's 2:30 exactly.

Talk To The Man On The Street

By Dave Atkins

With an election coming up in the next five months, I thought that a good idea for a television show would be a "man on the street" program in which people would be approached at random and either given a question to answer or simply asked what they would like to see changed in the City, with regard to School and/or City operations, that would make life easier on the residents of Romulus. Then, I would contact some of the School and/or City officials, put them on camera, and have them tell us what they would or wouldn't/could or couldn't do about the problems under discussion.

This program will work in conjunction with "the little paper" and my upcoming program, Romulus Update.

Now that the School Board meetings are being televised as well as the Council meetings, you will have more first-hand information about what is going on in both branches of government, and your greater knowledge will hopefully create a greater interest as far as elections and your personal involvement are concerned.

In other words, if you watch both the Council and School Board meetings, plus watch what I am planning to present, you should have full knowledge of almost everything that is going on in the City.

I have felt for a long time that most people do not get involved in City business or School business because they feel "you can't fight City Hall" (that includes the School District), and that is one of the reasons that there are not as many people voting in elections as there used to be. On the other side of the coin, I have found that those who keep abreast of what is going on in their local, county, state, and federal government are more apt to cast a vote at every election and show up at meetings to voice their opinions.

BINGO! The Man on the Street will give you an opportunity to voice your opinion without attending meetings, and, at the same time, will allow officials to see and hear what you want.

When I approach YOU, the "man on the street," it may be on the street, in a restaurant, on the job, or in any number of other places. You never know: the subject you bring up may be the one that gets taken care of first. □

School Board Meetings On T.V.

By Dave Atkins

Well, it has taken awhile, but at last you are able to watch School Board meetings on cable television. They're televised on channel 43 at 7:30 p.m. on the Thursday following each meeting.

The twice-monthly School Board meetings take place at the same time as City Council meetings, which are broadcast live; hence the time delay before broadcast of the meetings. (It really shouldn't matter whether you see the meeting the night it occurs . . . just so you see it.)

You must understand that, due to the fact that it is illegal to edit a public meeting, you will be able to watch it in its entirety even though it is three days after the meeting took place.

I don't know how long we at the Paper will be able to do the production of these meetings because of the cost factor (you all know that we don't have any money), so, eventually, the Board will have to have its own people do the taping.

The first meeting went very well, although I don't know how many people watched it because we were not able to advertise that it was going to be shown.

We will be doing more and more taping of various meetings and goings-on around the City as the summer progresses, and we certainly hope that you enjoy them. In particular, we plan on interviewing each candidate running for office this November so that you can determine how you want to vote.

The most recent School Board meeting, which was held June 10, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. on channel 43 on Thursday, June 13.

Any comments you have about the Paper or our TV productions are very welcome, as always.

"TIME"

Written January, 1991, for Daddy.

Time stands still for no one — not for me, not for you.
It doesn't hold a schedule; instead, it ticks right through.
The days, weeks, months and years
Are too short for living when life to us is true.
There's good ole Mother Nature, and Father Time as well.
It takes care of everything, and only "it" will tell!
It's the greatest healer; it makes a person strong.
Can't turn back the hands of time; it always moves along.
Sometimes it can be on your side when things aren't going right.
It's like a soothing ointment when time takes on its flight.
Many times we wonder how it goes by so fast.
It always flies when you're having fun, but never does it last!
As for your pictures and memories that we can call our own,
Think of all our yesterdays, of all the love you've shown.
You'll always live within us, Dad, "through Ada and Johnathon,"
For God will keep us safe and strong, so we may carry on.
Your little Ada resembles you, and me when I was small.
God blessed me with these gifts of love . . . and now you have it all.
For I'm the apple of your eye, your precious pride and joy, and in return I thank you, Dad, with our little girl and boy.
"Time is the greatest healer," we've all heard you say . . .
Our love for you will always be, forever and a day.
In time, we'll all see you again, where time shall be no more,
and then we'll walk the last mile of the way on Heaven's brightest shore.
You love the "Sweet By and By," those gospel songs of old.
The stories of your yesterdays will not be left untold.
Spirits move and spirits rise; soon the Rapture draws near.
We'll all meet Jesus in the clouds and rejoice with happy tears.
You are very special, Dad, to everyone you know.
You saw us "all" through thick and thin; it's time now we let go!
It's time that God wants you with Him; in Heaven is where you'll be.
Each time we see the stars above, it's "you" that we will see!

Your Daughter, Vicki Kyak Martin

The Gypsy Moth

All information submitted by James A. Kosteva, State Representative for the 37th District

As spring advances into summer in Michigan, many property owners are worrying about the damage that may be done to the trees on their lawns and woodlots by the seemingly unstoppable gypsy moth. In the caterpillar stage, these voracious little pests can defoliate individual trees and entire stands of timber, leaving the trees without enough leaves to provide abundant nutrients and withstand threats like drought and disease.

While the greatest gypsy moth infestations seem to be in the central portion of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, the ability of the moth larvae to migrate quickly

ALL I WANT IS A FLAG !

By Dave Atkins

At the last City Council meeting, one subject that arose became the center of a quite lengthy discussion. That subject was the American flag.

No, they weren't talking about burning it or walking on it. Rather, the concern was about there not being one.

No flag? Where?

At the cemetery!

It was Councilman Bill Wadsworth who brought up the subject when he talked about the organization that placed flags on the cemetery's graves just recently. Wadsworth believes that a flag should fly there all the time, and gave several reasons in support of his assertion.

A question then arose as to whether the flag pole that now exists is in good enough shape to support a flag. It was brought to everyone's attention that the pulley at the top of the pole is either broken or missing.

Wadsworth said, "Well, fix it or replace it. We need a flag there."

Then Randy Gear, Mayor Pro Tem, reminded everyone that, if a flag was placed there, it would have to have a light shining on it at night or it would have to be taken down daily.

To which Councilman Wadsworth replied, "I don't care what has to be done; I want a flag in the cemetery."

More discussion of the flag arose. Does the person who opens and closes the cemetery know how to put up and take down a flag? "The flag must be handled in a certain fashion, and it poses a danger to millions of forested acres across the State. Environmental and scientific experts advise a range of actions that can help control the damage caused by the gypsy moth caterpillar. These include applications of biological pesticides on trees around houses and in woodlots, which is done by county governments in selected areas of infestation. Individual homeowners can also take steps now to prevent the caterpillars from doing extensive damage to individual trees on their property.

Homeowners who want information on how they can control gypsy moth infestations should contact the Michigan Department of Agriculture or their county extension offices. An especially helpful publication is the "Gypsy Moth in Michigan Homeowner's Guide" (Extension Bulletin E-2302), which contains comprehensive and concise information about the gypsy moth and how the damage it does can be controlled.

But because of the extent of the gypsy moth infestation in Michigan, and since the total moth population generally follows a multi-year "boom and bust" pattern, experts caution that reckless efforts to eliminate the gypsy moth completely are prohibitively expensive and possibly counterproductive. They also warn homeowners and owners of woodlots to be especially wary of "quick fixes" offered by unscrupulous operators.

usually takes two people to put up the flag and take it down," said Gear.

Wadsworth: "I don't care. Put a flag on the pole."

Someone said that they thought it was a law that a light must shine on the flag during night hours, but no one could affirm that, so it was basically decided that the light was a matter that the military had come up with.

"I don't care. Put up a flag." (Guess who.)

Even more discussion followed as they tried to decide who was responsible for repairing the flag pole and seeing to it that all matters discussed were taken care of. (It was finally decided that the Department of Public Works should take care of the job, and that the entire matter should be handled through Mayor Beverly McAnally's office.)

"I don't care who handles it; put up a flag in the cemetery," said Wadsworth, and then added, in passing, "You can put a light on it if you want to."

Editor's note: I frankly am certainly glad that we have people who are concerned enough about our heritage to want a flag placed in the cemetery, and I am even more happy that they take the time, even if it is at a Council meeting, to bring forward so many considerations regarding its display.

Congratulations, people; I am glad that you care enough to do the very best.

"Put a flag on the pole," and add a light if you want to, but make sure it is pointed at the flag so as to illuminate it after dark. □

For instance, chemicals used by salespeople who "guarantee" to eradicate the gypsy moth are usually worthless and, in some cases, actually dangerous to people, animals, and the environment in general. Property owners should also be cautious of operators who offer to buy standing trees that have been defoliated, offering prices much lower than the wood is actually worth. Healthy trees that have been stripped by gypsy moth caterpillars, sometimes even more than once, can often generate enough new leaves in the same season to keep them alive and regain their health. Timber owners should always ask the advice of a professional forester before selling any standing trees.

Research in Michigan and other areas of this country and in Europe, where the gypsy moth has been a problem for centuries, has produced some promising methods of control and eradication, mostly based on the use of natural predators and diseases that attack the pest caterpillars. Someday in the not too distant future, the gypsy moth may cease to endanger trees in our state. But, until that happy day, homeowners and timber interests should work with State environmental and agriculture experts to control the damage this unwelcome little resident can do in our backyards. □

Sassy Seniors

By Mary E. Clark

Special thanks are due to Marilyn Masters, Senior Citizens Coordinator for the City of Romulus; Maureen Baratone, office staff member at the Romulus Towers; and Sheila Hicks, Manager of the Romulus Towers, for contributing information to this issue's "Sassy Seniors" column.

Senior Emergency Prescription Drug Program

The Downriver Human Service Center (19101 Inkster Road, Romulus) has been designated as a site for the new emergency pharmaceutical program. This program will help seniors purchase prescriptions if they:

- are 65 years of age or older;
- have incomes of $827 a month or less ($1,108 for married couples);
- have monthly prescription costs that equal 10% or more of their monthly income;
- have unfilled prescriptions and no insurance to cover them.

The Downriver Human Service Center staff will register and issue vouchers to those who qualify. Staff will also help qualified applicants obtain continued assistance. Call 782-0441 to make an appointment.

Legal Aid

Senior citizens can receive free legal counsel from an attorney at the Sumpter Senior Center (23501 Sumpter Road, Belleville) on Thursday, June 13, beginning at 9:30 a.m. All persons signed in by 10:30 a.m. will be assisted. For more information, call 964-4111.

News from the Romulus Senior Center

Sidewalk Sale — A Sidewalk Sale will be held in front of the Senior Center on June 28, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sign up in the lobby at the Center if you'd like to borrow a table.

Summer Break — "School's out" for the bowling, knitting and crocheting, sewing, crafts, and quilting classes at the Center. Most will resume the week of September 9.

Potluck — Seniors can join their friends for grilled burgers and lots of other goodies (bring a dish to pass) in the Center's "Senior Park" on Tuesday, June 25. Call (942-6852) for information.

Senior Van Trips — For a transportation fee of only $1.50, seniors can take the Center's van to do a little "strip mall" shopping on Friday, June 21, or to shop at Area garage sales on Thursday, June 27. Sign up at the Center.

One-day Getaways — If you enjoy getting away for a day, these one-day trips are just the thing for you! Ride a deluxe motorcoach to enjoy a special performance by Bobby Vinton on the Chesaning Showboat on July 17 ($43), or take in a "Geritol Follies" production in Toledo on September 25 ($41.50). For details, contact Marilyn Masters at the Center (942-6852).

Mackinac Island Trip — Spend a relaxing three days/two nights at Mackinac Island's Grand Hotel! The $275 cost of the trip, which departs October 2, includes two nights' lodging and four meals (two breakfasts and two dinners) at the 104-year-old Grand Hotel, a ferry boat ride, a tour of Fort Mackinac State Park, a carriage tour ride, lots of social events and games, and more! Final payment is due June 15, 1991. Call Marilyn Masters (942-6852) if you are interested.

News from the Romulus Towers

Happy Birthday! Best wishes to those of my Towers neighbors celebrating a birthday in June: Florence Atchison, Helen Bliznik, Evelyn Doemer, Charles Fry, Alecia Karrick (staff member), Ethel LaMar, Anna Leonard, Doris Mackie, Joseph Scibilia, and Donna Thorne.

Speaking of Birthdays . . . Towers residents can join in this month's birthday celebration on June 13. Cake and ice cream will be served in the Multipurpose Room at 7 p.m.

Welcome! On behalf of my neighbors at the Towers, I would like to welcome our newest resident, Irene Holliday. We hope that she'll enjoy living in our "little community."

Picnic — A special cookout is set for Wednesday, June 19, and everyone at the Towers is invited! "Chef" Verdell will be preparing barbecue chicken, and there'll be lots of games to add to the fun. Meet in the Multipurpose Room at 1 p.m. □

Daniel, Tessin Choose Schools

By Fred Coleman, CAA, Athletic Director, Romulus Community Schools

The Class of 1991's Scholar Athletes were named on Wednesday, May 15.

The male recipient of this year's award was Dennis Tessin. Dennis participated in cross country and track, and received three varsity awards in each sport. Dennis will graduate with a 3.84 grade point average and will finish his high-school career ranked third in the 300-member Class of 1991.

Dennis plans to attend the University of Michigan, but, at this time, does not intend to pursue a college athletic career. He does plan to continue his running career, but, more than likely, it will be in individual competitions similar to the six-kilometer race that Romulus hosts during Michigan Week.

The female recipient was Jennifer Daniel, who earned 10 varsity awards during her career at Romulus: three letters in softball, three in volleyball, two in basketball, and one each in cross country and tennis.

Jennifer concluded her career at RHS with a 3.83 grade point average and a ranking of fourth in her class.

Recently, Jennifer signed her "letter of intent" to attend Wayne State University, where she will compete in the softball program for Coach Gary Bryce.

"We are very happy that Jennifer chose to play for us next season," said Coach Bryce. "She has excellent defensive skills and the speed we need in a leadoff hitter. If she can master the left-handed batting technique, there is no doubt that Jen will have an excellent college career."

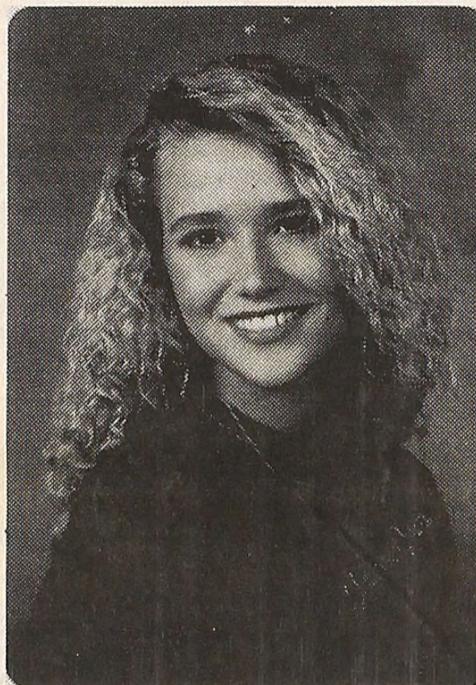

"I have known Coach Bryce since I was in the seventh grade through pitching camps and summer softball programs," added Jennifer. "I had pretty much decided not to play college softball, but when Coach Bryce made me this offer, I just couldn't turn it down. I am really excited about playing at Wayne State because I know many of the girls on the team, plus it's an excellent school for me academically."

Eben Smith has been invited to the Michigan State University football program and is hoping to make the travel squad as a freshman at MSU next fall.

Also recently committing to Trinidad State Junior College are senior basketball players, John Dinkins and Marlan Hicks.

Although athletic scholarships are still pending for others, it appears at this time that we can wish these fine Romulus athletes good luck in their careers at their respective universities.

Best wishes for continued success, both in athletics and in your quest for a career — and, most of all, thanks for the tremendous efforts you gave to our program at Romulus High School. □

Ode to Grammy

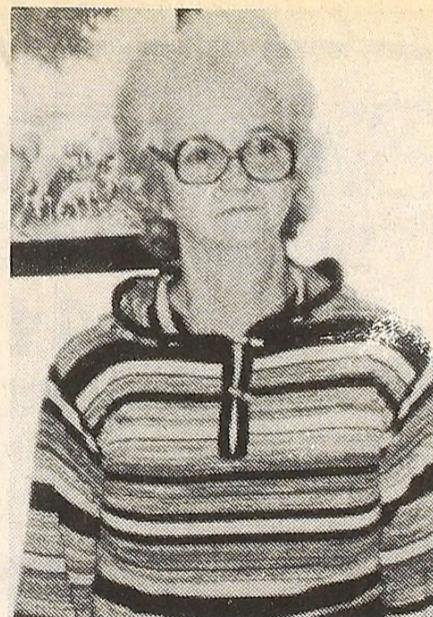

By Vicki England

On June 3, 1991, I, along with many others, bid farewell to my wonderful grandmother, Maebelle Perry, who lived here in Romulus. Grammy (that's what we always called her) was born October 30, 1920, and went home to be with the Lord on May 31, 1991, after a long battle with Alzheimer's Disease.

Reverend Lonnie England, Grammy's pastor for many years, spoke what was in all of our hearts at her funeral, which was held at Voran Funeral Home in Taylor.

Until she became stricken with that terrible disease, Grammy was a strong but very kind and gentle person. She always did things for others above herself. She was a good Christian woman who served our Lord faithfully by teaching and tending to the children at our church. Those of us who were fortunate enough to have Grammy share in our lives agree that she was the sweetest, most fair person we ever knew. She worked hard and did not expect help from anyone. I know it was difficult for her to watch helplessly as she became more and more dependent on others. Her body grew weaker, but her eyes never lost their love. I hope that she could also see the love in our eyes reflecting back to her, for she was still "Grammy" no matter what her physical condition was.

Many people will miss Grammy, including my grandpa, Charley Perry of Romulus, her husband of many years; my mom, Betty Wilks of Romulus, her oldest daughter; and daughters Marge Kritcher (Trenton), Dian Carter (Brighton, MO), Denice Perry (Detroit) and Joy Stewart (Brownstown). Grammy had two brothers, William and Calvin Farley, and two sisters, Edna Hunt and Effie Castle. Eighteen of us called her Grammy, including four great-grandchildren.

We laid Grammy's body to rest in Michigan Memorial Park, but we know that her spirit has gone to meet those of her parents, Joseph and Etha Farley, who went to be with Jesus several years ago.

One more thing: Grammy, if you are listening, we all want you to know that you have blessed our lives in a most precious way. We are thankful to God for allowing us to be your family and we are looking forward to that glad morning when we will be together with you again. We love you very much.

Good night for now,
Vicki □

You and Your Child

The following information is a reprint from the June 1991 Halecreek Newsletter Summer Activities

Have fun with your child this summer, but don't let learning take a vacation! Here are some activities that you can do with your child to keep his/her mind active and give him/her a good start in school next fall.

- Read together. Research shows that the most important way parents can help their children become better readers is by encouraging them to read at home.
- Visit the library. Many libraries plan special summer activities. Kids need to learn that adults read for fun, too — so take them, don't send them.
- Write letters. If you are planning a vacation this summer, have your children write to the departments of tourism in states you intend to visit. And, of course, friends and relatives will enjoy hearing from your children at any time.
- Plan outings together. Every community has interesting places to visit. You can always enjoy a picnic in the park, especially if the kids help to plan the meal.
- Read maps. As you travel across the Country, have your children help read road directions. Talk about what you see as you travel.
- Teach children to cook. Using simple, easy-to-read recipes, children can practice reading, following directions,

NEWS FROM LANSING

House Considers Improved Drunk-driving Laws

In an effort to close loopholes in Michigan's drunk-driving laws, House members are considering a package of legislation that would provide stiffer penalties for first-time offenders and streamline court procedures for drunk-driving cases. Among other provisions, the legislation would mandate that first-time drunken-driving offenders would lose their license for 30 days without exception and without the possibility of getting a restricted license. The courts would be required to resolve most drunken-driving cases within 77 days and license revocation fees would be boosted from $60 to $90. Under the legislation, a person could be charged with a felony carrying a 15-year prison term specifically for drunken driving that resulted in a death.

Commercial Drivers Face Stricter DUI Standards

The House has approved legislation that would impose more stringent restrictions on blood alcohol levels for drivers of commercial vehicles and increase penalties they face for driving under the influence. The measures would lower the blood alcohol level for "driving under the influence" charges for commercial drivers. Persons acquiring subsequent convictions could receive jail sentences of up to a year or a fine up to $1,000, as well as permanent suspension of the person's operator license. No restricted license would be allowed, and police would be allowed to make warrantless arrests of suspected drunk commercial drivers involved in an accident.

House Bill Targets Transportation of Illegal Drugs

To help stem the flow of illegal drugs throughout Michigan, the House has approved bills that would allow for driver's license suspension of 60 days to a year for a person convicted under the motor-vehicle code of illegal possession of a controlled substance (in amounts of 30 or more grams of marijuana or five or more grams of other controlled substances like cocaine or heroin) while operating a motor vehicle. The suspensions would be in addition to other punishments the courts could impose.

House Votes To Expand Small Claims Court Procedures

The House has passed legislation that would increase the jurisdiction of Michigan's small claims courts over disputes of amounts up to $2,000 and would require defendants in these cases to disclose their source of income and bank account information. The legislation would allow more consumers and businesses to use the small claims courts to avoid costly litigation over relatively small amounts and would make it easier for successful plaintiffs to collect the damages due them.

Judges Would Consider Domestic Violence In Custody Cases

Under a bill recently introduced in the House, judges would have to consider the impact of domestic violence in a child's home as part of their decision in child custody cases. Supporters of the measure say that spousal abuse and other forms of domestic violence are harmful to a child's safety and development even when the violence is not specifically directed at the child.

House Bill Would Clarify Insurance Benefits for Seniors

There have been reports of senior citizens injured in auto accidents being denied benefits under "no fault" policies, as insurers claim that these benefits must be coordinated with benefits provided by Medicare supplemental policies that these seniors have purchased. However, the Michigan no-fault law specifies that supplemental policies are not accessed in these cases. A bill approved by the House would clarify that insurers cannot withhold benefit payments to persons injured in auto accidents under these circumstances.

Who Wins in Price Wars?

By Dave Atkins

In this country, a person in business can sell his goods for just about any price he wishes to set. That's the American way. It's the American way, even if you wind up losing money. But the big question is, do the consumers really benefit from such actions, or do they suffer from them?

At the time that the discounts are taking place, certainly, the customers are the ultimate winners, but what about after the discounts and price wars are over?

Usually, prices become much higher than what the consumers have been used to paying — often as much as double — and, as a result, the consumers end up paying for the original discounts and, in some cases, even more than they would have if the discounting had not started at all.

In many cases, the merchants wind up going out of business, which means that there is a smaller tax base . . . and guess who winds up paying that additional cost.

It is all right to have sales. There is nothing wrong with that; it generates new business. On the other hand, coupons, double coupons, and triple coupons cost you additional money for the simple reason that, if one thing is discounted, usually two or more other items that sell fairly well are increased

see WARS, page 8

Valid after 3:00 PM only.

in price to make up for the revenue lost because of the sale.

A very good example is the cereal business.

Not long ago, a box of Quaker oats cost about a dollar or less. However, since the big "oat bran" craze (brought on by the medical field) hit the market, most cereals have about quadrupled in price.

One of the other reasons that prices of many consumer goods have risen is the fact that we like to see pretty packaging; hence, four-color-process printing on labels and boxes, which means an enormous additional cost to the manufacturer and, therefore, the consumer.

On a local level, in the case of gas stations, party stores, and clothing stores (all mostly independently owned), a really serious problem with price cutting can develop to the extent that it drives some stores out of business, or at the least puts them on the brink of disaster.

It seems that almost everyone, for example, likes beer. If a store, especially a small store, buys beer for, let's say, $11.59 a case, and sells it for $11.99 a case, then the beer-drinker certainly gets the benefit. He gets an even greater benefit if the store across the street sells that same beer for $11.89 per case.

As I said earlier, such "leaders" get you into the store so that you will buy something else at a higher price. For example, you might buy a $2.25 pack of cigarettes that you could purchase for much less per package if you bought a carton elsewhere.

However, the store down the street that has been in business for a number of years, and does, in fact, sell numerous cases of beer, will almost surely be put on the brink of destruction because of the prices its owners must charge to stay in business.

Many times, the "price war" games get hot to a boiling point, and problems arise that should not.

Remember the gas wars in the early '70s? It was great when we could buy a gallon of gas at one station for 50 cents, and, the next day, go to the station across the street and buy that same gallon of gas for 41 cents. But look what happened: the average price of no-lead regular in Romulus is now $1.05 per gallon, and a great many of the stations that got involved in the gas wars are now out of business, including some of the major companies from the '70s.

Watch where you shop. Is it worth driving 10 miles to save a dollar? Or is it better to shop at the old, reliable store whose proprietor treats you well and will still be around when all is said and done? □

Three Students To Attend Boys' State Program

By John Domas, Counselor, Romulus High School

Three outstanding Romulus High School students have been selected to attend the 53rd Annual American Legion Boys' State Program. The program is to be held on the campus of Michigan State University in East Lansing from June 13 to June 19.

Attending will be 1,000 boys representing the best in Michigan youth.

Local students receiving scholarships valued at $185 are: Matthew Daly, son of John and Carol Daly, sponsored by the Progressive Club of Romulus; Muhammad Khalifa, son of Aziz and Faith Khalifa, sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Romulus; and Steven Yates, son of Kenneth and Linda Akers, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Romulus.

All are completing the eleventh grade at Romulus High School. Thus, they will be returning as seniors to share their Boys' State experience with their classmates next year.

The Boys' State Program duplicates the very process by which the government in Michigan and in Washington D.C. operates. Each young man attending will learn from first-hand experience how to work within a political party for the common good. Aside from this practical learning experience, each boy learns the priceless lesson of team participation while maintaining his own individuality.

The long-term experience, together with the friendships developed, are not soon forgotten, but stay with the boys the rest of their lives.

The ultimate learning experience derived from this program is that each boy leaves with a thorough and working knowledge of how our American system of government can effect change, implement ideas into law, and benefit society as a whole. There is no need for any of America's youth to feel alienated from our society, because there is a need to involve them in the continuing success of America, sponsors say.

Whether the boys attending become directly involved in the actual political process later in life or not, each one of them will join the American scene knowing that anything for the common good is achievable in our system. Perhaps, more importantly, they will each know how to achieve that common good through a peaceful and orderly process.

I would like to thank the following people for their help, support, and assistance in making it possible to send so many well-qualified and deserving students to Boys' State: Mae Jackson, William Knight, and Al Wilkerson, Romulus High School counselors; Gerald Nault of the Romulus Progressive Club and Romulus Kiwanis Club; Don Morris of the Romulus Rotary Club; and Judy Nutt, Guidance Office secretary. □

The kids at Barth Elementary spent many hours of hard work and invested plenty of T.L.C. into this paper mache Dinosaur. This piece of work stands almost six feet high and is on display at the Barth School in the front entrance lobby.

Pennington and Newton Marry

By Vicki England

Chad Newton of Belleville and Rhonda Pennington of Romulus were joined in holy matrimony on May 18, 1991, at a candlelight ceremony held at Bethany Bible Church in Belleville.

Reverend John Losen pronounced the nuptials, and Reverend Lonnie England offered the opening prayer.

Rhonda's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pennington of Romulus. Her maid of honor was Robin Tooze of Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania. Also in attendance for Rhonda was her sister-in-law, Karen Pennington. Rhonda is a graduate of Romulus High School.

Chad's mother is Mrs. Don Higgins of Belleville; his father is Bud Newton. His best man was Eric Johnson of Belleville. Also in attendance for Chad was Chris Pennington, the bride's brother. Chad is a graduate of Belleville High School.

The men wore black tuxedos with white shirts, while the ladies wore dropped-shoulder gowns of teal. The flowers were bouquets of pink tea roses and carnation accents. The bride's gown was white satin with a lace overlay bodice. The gown had accenting appliques with hand beading of pearls and sequins and lace borders.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Chad Newton will reside in Clarksville, Tennessee, until Chad's service tour has been concluded. □

RHS Sports Wrap-up, '90-91

By Fred Coleman, CAA, Athletic Director, Romulus Community Schools

The Class of '91 has established itself in both the record books of the Romulus Athletic Department and in the hearts of the coaching staff and fans.

The work ethic and leadership of this group of fine athletes will be remembered and hopefully mimicked for years to come.

Students Attend World Affairs Conference

By John Domas, Counselor, Romulus High School

Four Romulus High School students are attending the 15th Annual World Affairs Seminar at the University of Wisconsin, thanks to scholarships awarded by local clubs and organizations. The seminar, which began June 9, will continue through June 14.

The recipients of the scholarships, which are valued at $215, are: Robb R. Thompson, son of Tim Thompson and Sandy Schwartz, sponsored by the Progressive Club of Romulus; Petrina Sewell, daughter of Easter Sewell, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Romulus; Andrea Brown, daughter of Johnnie and Jeanette Brown, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Romulus; and Brian Molenda, son of Stella Molenda, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Romulus.

The World Affairs Seminar is a personalized educational program for specially selected high-school students. Its primary purpose is to bring about a better understanding of world problems on the part of high-school students through a study of current issues with young people from the countries concerned.

Emphasis is placed upon promoting a better understanding of the causes of world conflict with the thought that, if the causes are understood, world problems are more likely to be solved peacefully.

Students from foreign lands will make up about one-fifth of the total number of participants and will be coming from 50 different countries through several exchange programs. This will enable both US students and foreign students to learn about the customs, traditions, aspirations, and heritage of each other. There will be approximately 1,000 high-school students from throughout the United States and Canada, along with 250 foreign-exchange students.

The experience of living on a college campus will be both exciting and worthwhile. Students will have five nights lodging in a double-occupancy dormitory room and all meals, including a banquet; hear various speakers; see films; participate in panel and group discussions; view foreign exhibits; and receive name tags, portfolios, and other seminar materials. University recreational facilities are open for students' use, as is the University Health Center for emergency health care.

I would like to thank the following people for their help, support, and assistance for making it possible to send so many well-qualified, highly motivated, and deserving students to this seminar: Mae Jackson, Bill Knight, and Al Wilkerson, counselors; Gerald Nault of the Romulus Progressive Club and Romulus Kiwanis Club; Don Morris of the Romulus Rotary Club; and Judy Nutt, Guidance Office secretary. □

Romulus Rotary Club Adopts a Highway

The Romulus Rotary Club kicked off its new program called "Adopt-A-Highway" during the month of May. This 'continuous project,' which will continue into June, August and October, involves the clean-up of both the northbound & the southbound lanes of I-275 between I-94 & Eureka Road.

The Club's first pick-up effort along the northbound lane yielded 100 bags of trash and debris. An excess of 100 to 200 wine and whiskey bottles were spread along these two miles of road.

Remember: if everyone would do their part, the world would be a safer and cleaner place for us today and for the children of tomorrow.

Summer is here! If you didn't take care of your skin last winter, it will now show. It will be hot, and some of you will want to "let it all hang out" (back, legs, feet, etc.). But if you haven't been getting your facials, manicures, and pedicures, and visiting the sauna upon occasion, then don't expect to look like Julia Roberts or Iman.

There is still hope if you get started right now. I went to Glembay Salon at Hudson's (Northland) and talked with Bonnie Crawford, the aesthetician. She had some really good advice for those of us who want to look gorgeous for the rest of the summer . . . and forever. . . .

Bonnie suggested that we start with a facial.

Q. Bonnie, why is it important to get a facial?

A. A facial will help your skin to look more smooth, radiant, and healthy, as well as make it feel totally refreshed, softer, and younger.

Q. Is this treatment for everyone?

A. Yes, I have 18-year-old clients who have acne problems and unwanted hair that just may require waxing. Clients 20 to 30 years old usually want to prevent problems and just maintain a healthy skin. Clients 35 to 45 may start having a hormone imbalance, and clients 50 and over want to put moisture and oils back into the skin. They realize now that facials are beneficial for blood circulation and firming the skin.

Q. Should a person rid their vanity of all their skin-care products if they are getting professional facials?

A. No, they can stick to the product of their choice, or I could recommend some of Glembay's products; they have an excellent line of skin-care products.

Q. Tell us: what are some of the facials that you use on your clients?

A. I use several types, depending on the client's skin texture. For example, there is the Thermo Nutrient facial — sometimes referred to as a mini facelift. This mask gets very hard; therefore, it will "pump up" your cells and make the skin firm, giving the face a radiant glow. You may have noticed lines around the lip; a lip treatment will soften and relax the lips. The same treatment is applied to the eyes.

Next, there is the Herbal facial — an all-natural custom blend of various herbs imported from Israel. Minerals are from the Dead Sea. Unlike the other facial that requires you to use different equipment, this is all done by hand. You will actually see the results in one treatment.

Another is the Paraffin — this is excellent for dry skin. Similar to a mummy, your face is wrapped with gauze that is dipped in warm wax and then applied to your skin.

Q. Bonnie, do you have any male clients?

A. Yes, there is a skin fitness facial for men. Men want a well-groomed, polished look. Some men have skin problems that need attention. Facials are excellent for the guy who has a problem with the "five o'clock shadow."

Q. How often do you suggest a facial?

A. At least every four to six weeks.

Q. Do you have any advice about a home-care treatment?

A. I suggest that, between professional facials, you should clean your skin nightly using a Purifying or Hydrophilic Cleanser, then use a toning lotion or astringent, depending on your skin type. Apply a soft scrub twice a week; this will remove the dead cells. Twice a week, use a facial mask. The type of mask you should use will depend upon your skin type.

Q. Bonnie, is there any other beneficial treatment that you give your clients?

A. Yes. To help them relax, I massage the neck and shoulders.

I thanked Bonnie for this valuable information. It can serve a twofold purpose. If we have skin problems, this may be an excellent way to care for them; also, after a stress-filled day, this is good therapy. I tried it. It was great!

As a sneak preview: In our next Fashion Flair, we will be discussing manicures, pedicures, and waxing. Alice Stone, owner of the new Style-a-Trend salon in Romulus, will update us on why our hands, feet, and legs should be cared for professionally. □

Watkins Is State Champ

By Fred Coleman, CAA, Athletic Director, Romulus Community Schools

Izell Watkins brought home the gold medal from the 1991 State Track Championship long jump event.

Izell's leap of 22'8" not only bettered the field at the State meet, but it also set a new Romulus High School record.

The old mark had been set by our current track coach, Larry Thomas, in 1968. Larry's record was 22'7", and had stood solid for 23 years before Izell's final attempt on Saturday.

Izell's feat of excellence earned him an invitation to Indianapolis to compete in the Midwest Meet of Champions.

Also having an excellent day at the State meet was junior Tearza Johnson.

Tearza finished third in the 100-meter run with a time of 12.2 seconds and then took a fourth-place finish in the 200-meter race with a time of 25.06 seconds.

Coach Ron Bayes and his staff hope that the efforts of these two fine athletes will show the other upcoming track and field participants that, with a strong will to succeed and a work ethic to match, they too can establish themselves in the Romulus High School record books, or, like Izell in 1991, bring home a State Championship medal. □

Romulus Teachers Award Two $1000 Scholarships

By M. G. Fraley

At the recent Honors Night held at Romulus High School, the Romulus Education Association bestowed thousand-dollar college scholarships on each of two June graduates. The scholarships, given in the memory of Romulus educators Robert Brock and Earl Lamb, are granted each year to seniors of Romulus High School, and represent a contribution to students from Romulus teachers.

Miss Michele Scarrow and Miss Kimberly Lewis are the 1991 REA Scholarship recipients. Each of the winners has attended Romulus Schools from kindergarten through twelfth grade. Each has maintained consistently high grades.

Miss Scarrow, the Class of 1991 Valedictorian, has been class president for two years, yearbook editor, and has played varsity basketball and volleyball. She has participated in the work of the School Improvement Committee. Miss Scarrow will begin her undergraduate work at Michigan State in the fall.

Miss Lewis represented her school at Girls' State in 1990. She has been the drum major of the school's famous marching band for three years, and an active member of the Travel and French clubs. In junior high, Miss Lewis was a two-time district spelling bee champion, placing fourteenth in the state spelling competition. She is planning to attend Southern Missouri University in the fall. □

Henry A. Meyers

Henry A. Meyers of Romulus died on June 7, 1991, at the age of 70.

Henry, who was a retired machine operator for Lear-Sieglar, was the beloved husband of Ruth W. (Stephenson) Meyers; the dear father of Howard J. Meyers (Livonia), Glenn W. Meyers (Dearborn), and Mrs. Craig (Esther) Schaub (Taylor). He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Merlyn (Martha) Lavey (Pinkney), Mrs. J.P. (Joy) Lamberson (Romulus), and Mrs. John (Gloria) Omori (Arlington Heights, IL), and five grandchildren. He was preceded in death by one son, Henry Allen Meyers.

Funeral services will be held on June 11 at the Community United Methodist Church with Reverend J. D. Landis officiating. Romulus Cemetery will be the site of interment. Memorial tributes may be made to Community United Methodist Church.

Martha Louise Rogers

Romulus resident, Martha Louise Rogers, died on June 5, 1991, at the age of 80.

Martha, who worked in medical supplies at St. Vincent Hospital, is survived by one niece, Kathryn L. Lorenz (Romulus), and one nephew, William A. Madden (Ypsilanti).

Funeral services were held on June 8 at St. Stephen Catholic Church with Father Alexander Wytrwal officiating. Romulus Cemetery was the interment site. □

Obituaries

Nora A. McCafferty

Former Romulus resident, Nora A. McCafferty, died on May 14, 1991, at the age of 94.

Nora was born on December 31, 1896, in Nixa, Missouri, to Walter and Josie Aven. She was united in marriage to W.L. McCafferty on June 6, 1914. They spent many years in Michigan during World War II, where he worked at Willow Run Bomber Plant (which later became Kaiser-Frazier Auto Manufacturers) making B-52s. William died on May 14, 1960.

She is survived by three daughters, Edith Hedgpeth and her husband Howard (Nixa, MO), Nina Smitt and her husband Robert (Romulus), and Pauline Barnwell and her husband Ed (Birmingham); a daughter-in-law, Lillian McCafferty (Nixa, MO); four sisters, Bessie Owen (Springfield), Eula Maynard (Nixa, MO), Hester Jackson (Nixa, MO), and Ollie Ginger (Nixa, MO); eight grandchildren; 17 great-grandchildren; and 11 great-great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by two sons, Clell and Aven Lee McCafferty, and a brother, Arter Aven.

Funeral services were held in Nixa, Missouri. □

Romulus Rotarians Go to Chicago

The weekend of April 25, 26, and 27, 1991, consisted of the Romulus Rotary Club spending a few days and nights in downtown Chicago, Illinois.

Sixteen Rotarians, wives and friends either drove or flew to Chicago to attend the annual 640 convention.

The purpose of the convention was to meet with different segments of the Rotary to exchange thoughts and ideas.

Exchange students from around the world spoke to the group along with, and address from the Rotary International Presidential representative from Bangladesh, India.

Romulus Rotarians were active in the 50/50 drawing and working at the registration desk. The club, Romulus Rotarians were nominated for the Dick Hedkie Award for their participation.

A good time was had by all members with the fellowship shown throughout the entire Convention.

- Study the weather. Keep a notebook to record temperature, humidity, etc. Make a rain gauge from a tin can and measure the precipitation.
- Study nature by collecting specimens. Whether the collection is of bugs, butterflies, or ferns, children like to collect, observe, and classify things.

A word to working parents: Joint projects with your children, even if you spend only 15 to 20 minutes a day on them, will pay big dividends.

TV and Your Child

Television has become one of the most powerful influences in your child's life. Most children under age 12 watch about four hours of TV every day. That comes out to over 60 full days per year of your child's life. Would you believe that's more time spent in front of the TV in a year than in the classroom! That is why it is so important that we understand the value of TV and the ways that we should monitor TV viewing for our children. Let's take a look.

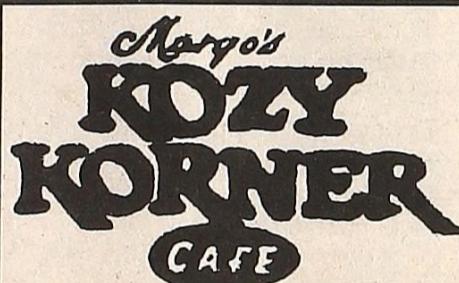

Television can be of great value to children if we only guide our children to proper viewing. Television can be entertainment where our children are able to see movies, sports, and programs that can be fun and interesting. TV can be a good teaching tool. There are programs that can help children learn letters, words, and numbers. Television informs our children of current events, history, science, other cultures, etc. Television can be very useful because children remember much of what they see on TV. They are likely to form attitudes and ideas about life and the world from what they see on TV.

That is why parents should be concerned about their children's viewing habits. TV's influence can be either positive or negative. We as parents should be aware of the good programs that are available to our children.

Have a happy, educational summer vacation. □

Wrap Up

The "turnaround" in our football program that will be witnessed this season is the byproduct of the efforts of the Class of '91.

The last two seasons in our men's basketball program have been both exciting and remarkable when you look at the size difference between our team and our opponents. Torrey Mills, John Dinkins, John Chambers, and Izell Watkins contributed greatly to the last two seasons' success and will be missed in the 1991-92 year.

Back-to-back winning seasons marked the last two years of the girls' basketball season, and seniors Sue Molenda, Jennifer Daniel, Angie Hopewell, Kim Hopewell, and Danielle Winston were the main reasons for that success.

The girls' volleyball program has won 106 contests in the last three years, and seniors Jennifer Daniel, Michele Scarrow, Sue Molenda, Brooke Hammers, and Angie Slawinski led the way for Varsity Coach Gail Coleman.

Michele Scarrow established six individual records for the volleyball program, while Jennifer Daniel established four individual records.

Spring seasons saw Izell Watkins and Darinda Davis establish new School records in track, while Brian Ellison broke the stolen-base record for our baseball program.

Jennifer Daniel established a career/school record for varsity competition, as she received 10 out of a possible 12 varsity letters during her four years at Romulus High School.

Although individuals from the Class of '91 had outstanding careers, it should be noted that the greatest element of this class is their dedication to being student athletes.

Of the top 10 seniors in the Class of '91, seven of them are athletes, and the number of athletes with a 3.0 grade point average or better is 42.

The Class of '91 should leave Romulus with their heads held high, as the true value of this group will be shown in the commitment of the athletes next season. This class has established a level of success, both on the field and in the classroom, that our future athletes can only hope to duplicate.

The Class of '91 is truly a group that will be "imitated but never duplicated," and I, for one, can honestly say that they will also be deeply missed as athletes, students, and, most importantly, as a very fine group of young men and women who have excelled in making Romulus High School a great place to work, and this town a great place to live. □

Spring Sports Conclude

By Fred Coleman, CAA, Athletic Director, Romulus Community Schools

With the completion of the State Track Meet and Izell Watkins' and Tearza Johnson's outstanding efforts, the spring season came to a conclusion for the teams of 1991.

Along with the excellent results posted by our track athletes, there were great gains experienced in other spring sports as well.

Tennis coach, Dan Stearn, saw the guys' tennis team put up great battles on the courts with its predominantly freshman/sophomore lineup. Brian Molenda, sophomore, received a third-place medal and honorable mention in the Downriver area, and will return with five other underclassmen to make up what looks to be a pretty solid lineup for the 1991-92 season.

Coach Don Foley is excited about his returning lineup being coupled with some outstanding athletes from the junior varsity program.

All-League first-team honors went to Tim Dufore, who is expected to lead the 1991-92 Eagles along with Mark Hardin, Charlie Dudonis, and David Sanborn.

The loss of All-League first-team seniors Eddie Tank and Rich Evans will leave a hole in the middle of the defense and offense, but Coach Foley expects some of the younger players to mature their talents this summer to fill the loss of the seniors.

Also vacating the baseball program this year will be senior Brian Ellison, who established a new single-season stolen-base record at 27. Mike Bergeron, Chad Filek, Ben Good, Jeff O'Connor, and Dan Wood will all be missed on next year's team, and should all be congratulated on a fine season and excellent high-school careers.

Softball coach, Bill Cuhran, loses three outstanding seniors in Michele Scarrow, Angie Slawinski, and Renee Bitner.

All three of the excellent players were selected for the first-team All-League honors this season, and their talents both on offense and defense will be greatly missed in the 1991-92 season.

Juniors Heide Bussard, Katrina Roscoe, Jennifer Trueman, and Jenny McClure are expected to be the nucleus of next season's squad, and Coach Cuhran stated that this summer and next winter will determine our success for 1991-92, as we need to develop our defensive skills during the off-season if we hope to be successful in 1992. □
